TORNADOES AS WARNINGS

Rev. Mr. Baldwin's View of the St. Louis Cyclone.

IT WAS NOT A PUNISHMENT

God's Chastisement of Humanity Not to be Regarded in the Penal Sense. No Special Cause for the Affliction of the Western Metropolis—A Beautiful and Timely sermon.

Rev. C. W. Baldwin, pastor of Wesley M. E. Church, spoke interestingly and edifyingly last evening before a large congregation, his subject being one of the greatest current comment—the St. Louis tornado. There was excellent music by the choir of the church, and a special number, a cantata by Raff, which was played with much skill and taste by Miss Bertha Lucas on the violin.

The lessons of the great calamity were discussed by the speaker in connection with the words of Christ to the Jews: "Unless ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish." Rev. Mr. Baldwin began by noting some of the great calamities, of which he gave the statistics of loss of life and property, as that of April, 1880, in Missouri and Illinois; that of June 17, 1884, in Illinois, and the Fort Keogh tornado in February, 1884, in which 800 lives were lost, 2,500 were wounded, and the loss of property was about $4,000,000. He then referred to the St. Louis disaster and its cost in life and material considerations.

WHY ST. LOUIS?
The natural questions to ask in these calamities, he said, is what do such visitations mean? Why, for instance, was the city of St. Louis selected, or the Fort Keogh territory, or Louisville, or Cincinnati, or any other place that has been stricken? Considering this question, it is absolutely necessary to take the providence of God into account; for God is the ruler of the universe and directs all its forces. Christ has referred in two places in scripture to calamities which overtook the chosen people, one of which was the murder of the Jews by Pilate, as stated by Jerome. It was to these great misfortunes that Christ referred when He said: "Unless ye repent ye shall all likewise perish."

Owing to the infirmity of our nature and our reasoning from sources, which are not quite clear, we are prone to draw conclusions which are not warranted by the facts. It would, perhaps, be natural to assume that such visitations are punishments, as punishments were inflicted in the historical cases of the old and new testaments. To assume that the tornado was an avenging visitation to St. Louis would be false reasoning, for we know that St. Louis is no worse than New York, Boston, Baltimore, Philadelphia, or Washington in proportion to its population.

PUNISHING THE INNOCENT
In the presumption of the wrath of God it should also be borne in mind that punishment was inflicted on Moses, Job the Just, and on Joseph the innocent, cases which prove that rewards and punishments are not meted out according to such standards as would be laid down by men.

Another consideration as to suffering by humanity is not always penal. Paul is the authority for the doctrine that many classes of sufferings are to be received as chastisements, which are visited on those whom God loves, would redeem, and bring to repentance. Of men so chastised are Gods jewels made.

It is true that there is a connection between sin and suffering, but the true consideration will be evident to those who regard the connection between suffering and the words of Christ, unless ye repent ye shall likewise perish.

There will be no misunderstanding by those who conceive of God as a just God, who brings to pass his designs in a multitude of ways which are often unintelligible to men.

As was the intention of Christ when He spoke on a similar subject, it is apparent that it is God's purpose by these awful visitations to give men warning; to cause them to stop and consider; to ask them to search their hearts as if he prepared for His judgments. Let this then be a warning that we be not found unprepared, but turn to a God who blesses abundantly those who repent.

ATTACKED BY COUNTRY TOWNS.

Aged German Comes to Washington for Hospital Treatment.
Max Newman, a middle-aged German, called at police headquarters about 8 o'clock last night and asked Detective Sergeant Perry to send him to a hospital for treatment. Newman's head was badly cut and covered with bandages. He was also bruised about the breast, arms and hands. He stated that while at Potomac Station on the Baltimore and Potomac railroad about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon he was set upon by a gang of hoodlums, three white and three colored. They bound him with ropes, several of which struck him, inflicting the injuries. After being taken to the corner of Fourth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, he was severely beaten up and dazed but not injured otherwise. Policemen Herndon and Gove sent the lad, who lives at No. 214 D street northwest, to the Emergency Hospital.

Struck by a Cable Car.

Freddie Stuffer, a small white boy, was knocked down by Fourteenth street cable car No. 47, west bound, about 7:50 o'clock last night. He was carried to the corner of Pennsylvania avenue northwest, where he was severely beaten up and dazed but not injured otherwise. Policemen Herndon and Gove sent the lad, who lives at No. 214 D street northwest, to the Emergency Hospital.
